

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a window-integrated antenna in vehicles including a heating conductor field, which is provided for both FM reception as well as LMS reception, a decoupling element for the FM reception is provided which has a high-frequency, low-resistance, but non-galvanic connection to the heating conductor field.